

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1896.

NO. 103

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Rev. J. M. Walton preached here last Sunday.
—There will be an auction at the brick hotel next Monday.
—Mrs. Wm. M. Weber will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society Friday evening.
—There will be an oratorical contest at the institute in the near future. Handsome medals will be awarded.
—Mr. Hugh Miller is improving his hotel property. Mr. Miller is the right man in the right place. His efforts have been crowned with success.
—Mr. and Mrs. Willis Adams will begin the construction of a handsome two-story residence on Adams Avenue next month. They are receiving bids for it now.
—Misses Ellen Butler and Ann Stewart were the guests of Mrs. Wm. Henderson at her delightful country home where hospitality and good cheer meet the welcome guest.

—The exercises of the Senate last Monday night were considered highly amusing. Resolutions over the death of a member affording a broad field for oratory, but when the departed member appeared on the streets next day it did not seem so funny.
—The entertainment given by Prof. Walton's pupils last Saturday evening was both interesting and instructive. The students acquitted themselves in such a creditable manner that it would be impossible to choose a favorite from the handsome galaxy.

—The Mt. Vernon Eagle mentions the probability of the candidacy of Mr. C. C. Williams for Congressional honors. The district will bestow honor upon a worthy recipient if it chooses to select Mr. Williams as the successor of our gifted representative, Hon. James B. McCreary, who has declined to enter the race again.

—The string band composed of Messrs. Sambrook, of Livingston, furnished the music for the exercises in celebration of Washington's birthday, and it was a musical treat long to be remembered. The air, America, elicited warm applause which strange to say was started by one in the audience, who recognized in it the once familiar air "God save the Queen."

—Mr. George Fish and family attended the entertainment Saturday evening. Misses Berda Martin and Carrie Lair were the guests of Mrs. George Rice last week. Mrs. J. M. Walton, of Livingston, was the guest of the Joplin House last week. Mr. Mace Miller is at home on a visit. Messrs. C. C. Davis and Wm. Childers were the gallant ushers at the college. Dr. Green is visiting his family here. Mr. Cox, bridge inspector of the L. & N., was the guest of his daughter, Miss May, last week. Miss Martha Griffin, of Wildie, was in town this week the guest of Mrs. Willis Griffin. Miss Eva Martin visited Miss Bessie Miller recently.

OF A LOCAL NATURE.

—An infant son of Henry Tombs, of McKinney, died Tuesday.

—Al Douglas, an extensive brick contractor at Richmond, is dead.

—Judge O. S. Poston, a well-known Harrodsburg lawyer, is dead, aged 80.

—The Somerset Hornet says that Rex Reid never opened his mouth in his life without telling some miraculous lie.

—E. A. Bess, of Kansas City, was selected as the representative of Centre College in the intercollegiate contest.

—J. T. Freeman, of Williamsburg, has been appointed bank and corporation clerk in the office of the secretary of State.

—Armstrong Strond was appointed postmaster at Norwood, Pulaski county, and P. W. Perkins at Red Ash, Whitley county.

—William Day, the youth who carried the mail between Tupton and Lilly, was convicted of taking the contents of registered letters. He only got $8.56.

—W. H. Dohn, a saloon keeper at Middlesborough, assaulted the Rev. C. E. Boswell, a Methodist minister, as a result of the fight against the saloons.

—While playing the role of peacemaker, Lewis Farley, a Harrodsburg negro, had his head split open with a hatchet by a woman who thought Farley was taking sides against her husband.

—Claude Newland, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. David Newland, of the Cedar Creek section, died yesterday morning. He had been sick for several months with a complication of troubles. At 10 o'clock today Eld. A. C. Newland, grandfather of the deceased, will preach the funeral, after which the little body will be laid to rest in the family burying ground.

—The Monticello jail is doubly guarded to prevent a further attempt at lynching four prisoners confined there. A mob is after James and Celina Winchester and Jonathan and John Troxell, all accused of robbing and burning D'Enery's store, near Farmleyville, last September. Four Troxells and two Winchesters were arrested for the crime, and two of the Troxells were sent to the penitentiary for two years. The others are believed to be equally guilty, but the regulators, fearing that they can not be convicted, have determined to hang them.

LANCASTER, CARRARD COUNTY.

—The Methodist ladies realized $16 on their court day dinner.
—Miss Dove B. Harris is to begin another term of school at Buena Vista, next Monday.
—Miss Albie Marksbury entertained a few friends Tuesday evening in her most imitable style.
—Sunday next the subject of Elder George Gowen's discourse will be "The Good Shepherd."
—The Aid Society of Christian church will meet Saturday afternoon with Mrs. H. C. Jennings.

—Tom Pollard, a negro, was arrested Wednesday evening by the city marshal on the charge of larceny.

—Miss Ada Adams entertained Miss Pearl Burnside, of Stanford, Tuesday evening at her hospitable home.

—Miss Maud, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson, entertained a few of her most intimate friends Tuesday evening.

—H. W. Longfellow's birth day was celebrated by the pupils of the Kindergarten class of the graded school with appropriate exercises.

—It is the rumor now that one of the merry bachelors of Lancaster contemplates writing up the bachelor-maids and their especial characteristics.

—J. H. Doty sold 16 cattle at $22.50. W. A. Anderson sold 16 heifers at $10. T. B. Walker sold a nice pair of good mules at a fair price. J. T. Conn sold a yoke of cattle for $50.

—Miss Lizzie Thompson was "at home" to some of her young friends and admirers Monday evening. "Parcheesi," not a very popular game here, was part of the evening's enjoyment.

—James Rogers, who lives in the upper end of Garrard, is reported to have shot and seriously wounded a negro named Tom Hutchinson. The nature of the difficulty was not ascertained, but it is thought the negro will die.

—Mr. Charles Allen Thomas, a young minister of the Bible College at Lexington, who has already won fame and a name in a number of oratorical contests, has been engaged by the ladies of the Aid Society of the Christian church to deliver one of his fine lectures here in Spring. His theme will be "The Isles of the Sea."

—Messrs. Will Ward and John M. Logan, two of Lancaster's enterprising citizens, will soon erect new dwellings for occupancy. Mr. Ward contemplates building as many as three houses and Mr. Logan two, all on Lexington street. This is now a very inviting street and when more residences are added it will then be more desirable.

—Miss Myrtle Wilds is the guest of her uncle in Jellico, Tenn. Miss Mollie Douglas has returned from a protracted visit to friends in Versailles. Miss Patsey Beasley is visiting her brother in Danville. Lewis L. Walker was in Frankfort last week attending court. C. M. Richardson, of Somerset, is the guest of Mrs. Emma Kauffman and family. George D. Lusk is sojourning in Harrodsburg. Mr. Pleasants, of Lincoln, is the guest of Miss Jennie Arnold. Miss Fannie Underwood, a most worthy young lady and a graduate of Prof. J. C. Gordon's school, is teaching at Bright's school house. Miss Lena Bryant and nephew have taken rooms with Miss Jennie Arnold. Miss Jennie Burnside is on the sick list.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—B. D. Tracy and Miss Florence E. Smith, both of this vicinity were married Tuesday.

—Edmond Lucas and Hettie J. Luper, sweet 16, both of the McKinney section, were married at George S. Luper's yesterday.

—S. A. Cummins, an engineer, and Miss Annie P. Dobbins, of Kingsville, were married at the bride's home near Kingsville, Wednesday.

—Brant Davidson was granted at Lexington a divorce from his wife, who was the heroine of a scandal in high life, she having eloped with Dr. Edgar.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McCullough who live near Maysville, have lived together as man and wife for 63 years. They are yet active and bid fair to reach 90 or more. He is 84, his wife four months older.

—Here is a society note taken from the Danversburg correspondent of the Greensburg Record: "It is rumored that Tom Price and Mrs. Bettie Shuffett will soon get married if their children are willing and the weather stays cool."

—The wedding of Mr. Sam Cummins to Miss Pearl Dobbins came off at Pleasant Point church Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock in the presence of a large crowd. The attendants were Mr. Raymond Snow and Miss Mattie Cummins. Rev. W. R. Davidson officiated. J. O. Terry.

—A writer in the Atlantic is booming Secretary Morton, of the agricultural department, for a presidential candidate.

MIDDLEBURG, CASEY COUNTY.

—Miss Jennie Williams is teaching a private school of about 30 pupils at Yosemitie.

—Rev. W. B. Godby preached some half dozen discourses at the Methodist church last week.

—Miss Albie Marksbury entertained a few friends Tuesday evening in her most imitable style.

—Sunday next the subject of Elder George Gowen's discourse will be "The Good Shepherd."

—The Aid Society of Christian church will meet Saturday afternoon with Mrs. H. C. Jennings.

—Tom Pollard, a negro, was arrested Wednesday evening by the city marshal on the charge of larceny.

—Miss Ada Adams entertained Miss Pearl Burnside, of Stanford, Tuesday evening at her hospitable home.

—Miss Maud, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson, entertained a few of her most intimate friends Tuesday evening.

—It is the rumor now that one of the merry bachelors of Lancaster contemplates writing up the bachelor-maids and their especial characteristics.

—Mr. William Thomas and Miss Mattie C. Durham drove to Liberty Monday and were married by Rev. J. Q. Montgomery. Mr. Milford Delk and Miss Celeste Jones, daughter of Mac D. Jones, of the Indian Creek section, will be married to-morrow, Thursday.

—We have at last been able to see a copy of the Liberty Tribune. It is the third newspaper venture in the county and decidedly the best of the three. The people should see that it gets the support it seems to merit. A good paper does more to build up a town or county than any other enterprise.

—It is pleasing indeed to see how the democrats at Frankfort have been able to hold their own with the republicans. Fighting the devil with his own weapon is about the only way to successfully cope with him and we are glad to see that democrats have at last caught on.

—If the republicans had been allowed to unseat one democrat, the heads of a half dozen or more would have fallen into the basket before the work of decapitation would have ended. Stick to 'em boys! and if the presence of Jack Chin is not sufficient to hold them down, just send over and we can, at a moment's notice, furnish a half dozen just as "bad ones" as Jack.

—Mrs. Annie Russell, wife of J. G. Russell, died at her home two miles above town Tuesday morning, aged 73 years.

—She had been sick about two weeks, but was thought to be better as she was able to sit up some. She got up at 5 o'clock on the morning of her death and called for her clothing and her son, Mr. Calvin Russell, was assisting her in dressing.

—Then she complained of a shortness of breath and asked to be placed on the bed. This request was complied with when she died immediately.

—Mrs. Russell was a member of the Christian church and one of the best women we ever knew. Owing to her kind and motherly disposition, she was called "granny" by almost everybody in the community.

—She leaves a husband and six children almost heart-broken over the loss they have sustained.

—There seems to be quite a religious atmosphere in the Kingsville vicinity.

—While out recently we were told that hardly a day passed that there was not a meeting of some kind. The brethren of the Christian church and those of the Baptist church at Pleasant Point had combined their forces for a more effective battle against the evil one and the chances were rather against the prosperity of the blind tigers, that are thought to be running in and about town.

—We learned while out there that some dozen or more young men of Waynesburg were indicted at the last term of the Casey circuit court for disturbing religious worship at Walltown, this county. The disturbance took place just before Christmas when Rev. Jacob Fagley was holding a holiness meeting. They will likely fare pretty badly judging from the fate of others who have unfortunately fallen into the hands of Judge Jones and Commonwealth's Attorney Muncie.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Miss Jennie Williams is teaching a private school of about 30 pupils at Yosemitie.

—Rev. W. B. Godby preached some half dozen discourses at the Methodist church last week.

—Billy Huffman went out to his mother's place Sunday morning and found a yearling colt dead, with no reason assignable for its demise. Florence Yowell lost a yearling under circumstances as inexplicable during the cold weather of last week.

—One day last week Miss Julia Stagg drove from Liberty to this place and came very near freezing her hands. When she arrived here they were entirely devoid of feeling and had to be thawed out in cold water.

—Waller Greening rented 40 acres of the old Patton place to put in tobacco. It was timbered and in order to have it cleared up he offered everybody all the wood they would haul off. Many have taken advantage of this offer to lay in a supply.

—Sam Logan was confined to his bed several days with a throat trouble, but is now out again. Mrs. Mary Green was quite sick last week, but is now improving. Mrs. W. L. Williams is now pronounced out of danger and it is hoped will rapidly convalesce.

—Cashier Hocker, not content with the painting and papering of the walls and ceiling of the bank, has had the floor painted and those who approach him for a "little favor for 30 days" had better scrape the mud off their boots on the steps, to keep on the good side of him.

—Doc Smith and Will Houston have rented the farm of Dr. J. B. Owsley near Stanford. They will raise tobacco and hemp. Will Rout has rented a body of land from Florence Yowell for the purpose of raising both tobacco and hemp. An increased acreage of tobacco will be planted here next season as almost every one that raised the weed this year obtained a satisfactory price for his crop.

—Wm. Wright met with a painful accident a few days while standing on the platform in front of Isaac Steele's ice house, which he was having filled. An empty wagon drew out from in front of the platform, catching the end of the brake-pole under the edge of the planks and when opposite Mr. Wright, the pole was released suddenly and flew up, striking him a sharp blow across the left eye, depriving him of the use of it for several days.

W. P. WALTON.

SIX PAGES.

Our good brother Walton, of Stanford, seems to be aping Dick Knott not only as a gold bug bolter, but as an advocate of the utmost liberty to railroads in overriding the rights of the people.—Owensboro Messenger. Nay, nay, dear Urey, you do us a grievous wrong. Even you can't call it bolting to oppose the election of a bolter, who not only refused to abide the decisions of the constituted authorities, opposed regular democratic nominees who were not for him and abused and vilified men, high in authority, the latches of whose shoes he is unworthy to unloose, but hurled defiance at everybody and everything who failed to accept him and his dogma. We are for sound money, such as we have now, gold, silver and paper, and will continue to have, as long as there is but one standard of value to back the other two mediums. Fifty cents worth of silver can not be made to pass for a dollar, unless there is something to back it or an international agreement to that end. You can call us a gold bug if you choose, but you'll get hurt if you ever intimate that even the slightest taint of your free silver lunacy has struck us. As for your other charge, that is hardly worth considering. Railroads are not the enemies of the people, as certain demagogues would have them believe. They are operated by individuals for money and should receive the same consideration that other legitimate enterprises do, such as managing their property to suit themselves, subject to reasonable restrictions. It is because we object to that useless and costly board, the railroad commission, having more authority given it, than Brer. Woodsom takes exceptions. We do not think that because a man is in the railroad business he is necessarily a rascal, nor do we think because one gets on the commission who doesn't know a hammer from a handspike or a tie from a T rail as has been and still is the case, that the fact of his advancement makes him competent to fix rates, pass on tairies and run railroads independent of those whom the owners have employed for that purpose. There is too much blatherskite about railroads. Politicians have played on the prejudices of the people till they have come to believe that they are worse than the roaring lion, which goeth about seeking whom he may devour. It is just from this mistaken idea that these corporations can hardly get justice from the average jury, and our friend Woodsom is one of the fellows who is responsible for such a state of affairs. Study up on the money question, young man, leave the railroads alone for a season and devote your attention to Bro. Hale. He is enough for you to attend to.

Gov. BUCKNER, the grand old man in war and the grander in peace, announces his intention, as soon as the winter is over, to stamp the State in the interest of sound money and the public credit. He will urge the sending of a solid sound money delegation to Chicago and the nomination of a democrat for president who is sound on all the issues. There is no man in the State who is better able to give reasons for the faith that is in him and his words will be worth thousands of votes to the cause of honest money and unimpaired National credit.

We manage some things better in Kentucky. For instance, our juries would have given a young lady an instant acquittal and a chromo, who after being annoyed to death by little negroes robbing her fruit trees and begging them to desist, shot into the gang and killed one. Not so in the District of Columbia. Miss Flagler, daughter of a general in the U. S. army, was tried this week, for the act named above and in addition to being sent to jail for a short time was fined $500. Little negroes must be more valuable there than here and hereabouts.

WALLER, the former United States consul, just released from a French prison, will, it is said, be boomed by his sympathizers for the republican nomination for vice president. As Waller is said to have married a "nigger" wife, the scheme might be a good one. It would make the negroes feel to some extent like they were being recognized beyond the simple occupations of hewers of wood and drawers of water.

It is said that the silverites are going to bring Tillman, the blatherskite Senator from South Carolina, to Kentucky to help bolster up their rotten cause, which must be even more rotten than even its worst enemies imagined when such a blatant demagogue and vulgarian has to be imported to tell honest men what to believe.

The executive committee of the Kentucky Press Association, of which Mr. H. E. Woolfolk, of the Danville Advocate, is chairman, will meet at Georgetown today to arrange for the next meeting which will likely be at the capital of Scott in response to a cordial invitation.

WHEN the majority report was read in the Legislature Wednesday "recommending that Werner is guilty to his seat on count of gross frauds," the wildest scenes of the session occurred. A democrat wanted the report printed and made a special order for next Wednesday and then the trouble began. Democrats denounced republicans as liars, &c., and the lobby cried "give 'em hell." The republicans soon saw that they had "bit off more than they could chaw," the principal offender apologized, the whole thing was deferred till to-day and white winged peace again spread her wings.

The tariff bill passed by the House is "as dead as Julius Caesar," as Senator Frye remarked. The Senate put it to sleep when it rejected the motion to take it up by a vote of 33 to 22, five free coinage republicans voting with the six populists and democrats against it. The republicans are hopelessly split on the silver question and the silverites will agree to no tariff legislation till their pet measure is adopted, which means that neither the tariff nor the silver act will become the law, for which relief much thanks.

ALL efforts to get Blackburn to stand aside and give some other man a chance will prove unavailing, so caucuses like the one held to that end the other night are a waste of time. Blackburn is for his own selfish self and he will see to it that if he doesn't get the prize no democrat shall.

It was the same old story yesterday, with but slight variations. Blackburn and Hunter each received 62 votes on the 32d ballot, while 10 members voted for other persons.

LAW MAKING AT FRANKFORT.

The bill to prevent the sale of cigarettes in Kentucky was passed by the House.

The Senate concurred in the House resolution favoring the election of United States Senators by popular vote.

Silverite members of the legislature in caucus decided to block the election of any Senator since Blackburn can not win.

A bill to require a Bible to be placed in every public school in the State, and if trustees require it, a chapter shall be read each school day has been presented in the House.

Mr. King introduced a bill providing that persons whose immediate relatives have been killed by mob violence may bring suit for damages against each of the persons implicated in the crime.

It is announced that Gov. Bradley has determined to appoint Senator Landes to the vacancy on the appellate bench, but will wait until the legislature adjourns so as not to destroy the tie.

Our old friend, Sam Carson, may not be able to spell except by ear, but he manages to get there when the call is made for bills. His latest is to provide a board of inspectors for eleemosynary institutions and is said to be aimed especially at the Catholic institutions.

It is said that his friends will make this proposition: Senator Blackburn will agree to withdraw permanently from the race if the majority of the full joint democratic caucus requests him to withdraw, provided, however, that Messrs. Weissinger, Carroll, Speight, Walker and Viott will go into that caucus and agree to abide by the decision of the majority.

Some enterprising fellow sprinkled a lot of blood on the privet bushes growing near where Pearl Bryan was murdered and sold twigs at 15 cents to morbid suckers.

John Bradley, of Winchester, O., was buried this week in a grave he dug for himself three years ago. The coffin had been kept under his bed for a couple of years.

The Central Hotel and several stores at Morehead were destroyed by fire. The loss is $15,000. Editor Callon, of the Leader, was overcome by heat and is in a serious condition.

Mrs. Mahala McGlone and Fleming Jordon have been arrested and jailed at Grayson. They are charged with the murder of Mrs. McGlone's husband, who disappeared five years ago.

L. L. Bucker, aged 45, and his son, aged 10, were drowned in a Catlettsburg skating pond. The boy was skating and the ice broke. His father in attempting to save him was also drowned.

Chief Moore, of the Weather Bureau, estimates that millions of dollars' worth of property was saved from destruction as the result of the warnings of a cold wave recently sent out by the bureau.

Judge William Russell Smith, one of the best known men in the South and a native of Russellville, died in Washington, aged 81. He served three terms in the United States Congress from Alabama, and was also a member of the Confederate Congress.

Secretary Carlisle was tendered an ovation at the banquet given in his honor at the Manhattan Club in New York. The secretary spoke at length on sound money, and began his address with the declaration that it pleased him particularly to be present because he knew that he was coming to meet democrats who had never repudiated their party's principles. He made an earnest, eloquent plea for the maintenance of sound currency, and insisted that in politics honesty was the best policy.

Billicothe's famous kite track, which cost with its tables $60,000, sold at auction Monday for $16,025 and it will likely be cut up in town lots.

Louis Waltz bought of J. E. Lynn a lot of butcher stuff at 2 1/2c and some fat hogs 3 1/2c. He also bought of Robert Barnett a bunch of hogs at same price.

600 bales of good timothy hay for sale. Will deliver on the cars in Crab Orchard at 60c per 100 lbs. Sead oats and corn also for sale. John Buchanan.

The Democrat says the best cattle on the Winchester market Monday brought 4 cents. Quite a number of plain cattle brought 3 1/2c. Some good mountain steers sold for 3 1/2c; a lot of 711 lb. steers, 3 1/2c; heifers, 500 lbs, 2 1/2c; 700 lbs. 2 1/2c; a few bulls, 2 cts; a small lot of cattle hogs, 4 cents. A number of mules were offered but the demand was slow. The best price of the day, $200, was for a pair of well-matched 15 1/2 hand mules.

P. P. Nunnelley has made the following sales: To S. H. Shanks 15 calves at $10, to Louis Waz a cow for $24, to Dave Embry a cow for $25, to S. H. Baughman a pair of steers and a heifer for $87.50, to James Spillman two extra good calves for $35, to Walls, of Garrard, a pair of oxen for $60, to Jesse Fox eight calves at $14.40, to J. A. Doty, of Garrard, 15 steers at $22, to Nick Perkins six calves at $12 and to Sam Cochran 12 heifers at $10.50.

KINGSVILLE.

Mrs. James Roy entertained a party of young people at dinner Wednesday.

Mrs. Fannie Carey and little grandson are visiting her brother at Winchester.

We had preaching Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Presbyterian church by Rev. Cook, of Burnside.

Rev. J. L. Allen, of Danville, pastor of the Christian church at this place, preached to a large and attentive audience both morning and night Sunday.

Mrs. Bessie McFarland is still very sick, being confined to her bed all the time. Mr. Adlai Glass, once of this place, but now of Danville, was in town this week shaking hands with old friends.

A three year old child of Mr. John Linnicum, formerly of the South Fork section but now of Jackson county, was brought here Monday and buried at Pleasant Point. It was buried to death.

W. C. Alford, chairman of District No 51, has been sparing no pains in remodeling the school house. He has reset 21 new desks and is now ready to accommodate the pupils much better than before.

The Saufley and Owsley breeze from the hills of justice seems to have carried before it all our boys to some gentle clime, where the air is free from the chilly gong of the court-house. Guilty consciences need no accusing.

The good people of this once hard and ill-fated portion of the county have striven hard to build up and maintain good morals. Shall it now be broken down and trodden under foot by a few unscrupulous persons? God forbid.

We have been informed by Mr. W. O. Watts that he saw the much-talked-of belled buzzard on his place last week. He said it was flying very low and seemed to have come from the East. It turned several times and flew West.

PERSONAL POINTS.

MISS MAMIE MOORE has gone to Louisville to remain till April.

MRS. T. H. SAUNDERS and Little Jessie are visiting Louisville.

GEORGE T. HELM, chief of police of Danville, was here yesterday.

MRS. T. J. BUSH, of Winchester, is visiting his son, Mr. James T. Bush.

MRS. F. F. SANDIDGE, of the West End, has been sick for several weeks, but is improving.

MR. E. D. SCOTT is over from Lexington to attend court and do a little private courting besides.

MISS ANNE SHANKS has returned from Lexington, leaving her brother Thomas almost well again.

MRS. ANNIE MCCLARY has moved her family into Miss Lizzie Beazley's cottage on West Main street.

THE Misses Straub gave a tea that was greatly enjoyed by several of their friends Monday evening.

MRS. J. P. CROW and children and Mrs. Will Morrison left on Wednesday's train to visit at Bardstown Junction.

FRANK THOMPSON, son of Mr. J. J. Thompson, of the Preachersville section, is very ill with pneumonia fever.

Mrs. J. H. MONIN, who came up to attend the burial of her brother, J. P. Crow, returned to Nolin yesterday.

Mrs. O. SMITH, formerly of this county, but now of Conant, Bell county, is visiting friends in and around Stanford.

MISS NELLIE ORNDORFF has been sick for several days, but was well enough to be at the Louisville Store yesterday.

MRS. JOHN F. MOORE and daughter, Miss Lillie, of Casey, are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Ed Wilkinson.

MR. FRANKLIN OWLSLEY and daughters, Misses Maggie and Ophelia, of Tennessee, have been guests at Mr. H. J. Darst's.

REV. R. B. MAHONY was called to London Wednesday to preach the funeral of Mrs. McFartridge, an aunt of Postmaster Weaver.

MR. H. G. COOK, of Jellico, came down Wednesday to see his wife who is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. B. McKinney, near McKinney.

MR. JOSH JONES received word yesterday from Monticello that his grand mother, Mrs. F. T. Jones, who is 93 years old, was at the point of death.

MR. E. W. SPIDELL and family have arrived and will occupy a house on Somerset street. He is one of the publishers of the new paper and is from Beech City, O.

MR. C. M. RUDOLPH, special agent for the Paducah Building Trust Co., is here with his wife again, working up interest in his company, which is gilt-edged and offers many inducements.

CAPT. GEO. H. MCKINNEY was attacked with heart failure Wednesday evening and for a time his son, A. A. McKinney, thought he was dead. He survived however, and was up yesterday.

THE newspapers have been peculiarly unfortunate in getting the name of our pretty little friend, Miss Jennie Warren, mixed during her present visit, but this from the Paris News is the worst break of all: Miss Jane Warner, a handsome young lady from Stanford, who has been a guest of Gov. and Mrs. W. O. Bradley for several weeks, will arrive to-day to visit Mr. and Mrs. George R. Bell.

CITY AND VICINITY.

THE latest thing in hats can now be found at Shanks'. Soft and stiff hats in great variety at the correct prices.

REMEMBER we have on hand at all times the very best of Jellico and Laurel coals. Give us a call. J. H. Baughman & Co.

MURPHY's shot didn't frighten the old Coned, Jailer DeBorde, in the least. "I've heard them before," the old man said with a smile.

Good news for teachers is contained in this dispatch from Frankfort: Treasurer Long sent $200,000 to the school teachers of the State. This is about half the amount due them.

DANKS fits spectacles.

NEW flower seed. Sweet peas, best selection in bulk, at W. B. McRoberts'.

CLOSING out stock. Getting ready for spring goods. Buy bargains from Danks'.

COTTAGE with three rooms, opposite Carpenter House, for rent. P. P. Nunnelly.

A TEXAS newspaper substituted local names and reproduced the doggerel this paper got off on the bachelors here.

For disturbing worship at the colored Baptist church, Joe Hayden, colored, was fined $5 and costs in Judge Carson's court.

IT is Judge J. D. Pettus now, the trustees of Crab Orchard having elected him police judge to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Ward Moore.

WE send out two extra pages with this issue and will continue to make Friday's paper six or eight pages each week, and may make Tuesday's the same size.

THE weather is behaving better. Yesterday was a typical Spring day and one almost looked for the flowers and expected to hear the singing of the birds.

The prediction read: Generally fair tonight. Friday fair and colder.

W. E. PERKINS, Crab Orchard's mercantile hustler, tells our readers in this issue where they can get the best plows and harness at the lowest prices. He has everything else in the general merchandise line, too, which it will pay you to examine and price.

THE man in this county drawing a pension, who it is said, is on borrowing a gun from a neighbor to kill a dog, asked him in sober earnestness, which to put in first the shot or the powder in loading the weapon. Another pensioner vouches for this, and we can present him if this statement is doubted.

RWARD.—Vandals broke into the public school building, defaced property, burned books, knocked out window glasses and stole the coal. The trustees are making strenuous efforts to apprehend them and will give a reward of $10 for any information that will lead to their arrest and conviction.

IN the window of Warren & Shanks is a butter display of Mrs. Clifton Fowler, which marks her as an artist as well as one of the best makers of that most desirable article of food when well made. The exhibition is in the shape of ducks, vases, pineapples and numerous other things surprisingly well executed.

NO more snow.—Mr. J. T. Harris, who pays close attention to such things, is satisfied that the day on which the first snow falls in November denotes the number of snows during the winter. It snowed Nov. 20; 20 snows have already fallen he says, and we will have no more. However we shall see what we shall see.

A LOCAL board of the Globe Building & Loan Co., of Louisville, authorized capital $20,000,000, was organized here this week by State Agent J. A. Graham. Dr. J. F. Peyton was elected president; Dr. A. S. Price, vice president; A. A. Warren, secretary and treasurer; W. A. Tribble, attorney, and J. D. Wearen, local agent. The directors are Joseph Sevance, T. D. Raney and Dr. A. S. Price. The institution seems to be an unusually strong one.

AND STILL THEY COME.—A gentleman who is engaged in the newspaper business at Bellefonte, Ill., writes us that Stanford has been suggested to him as possessing a good opening for another newspaper and asks us to let him know our opinion of it, and if favorable he would launch another paper on the journalistic sea. We answered: "There is a semi-weekly here now and a weekly is preparing to start, but there is always room for one more, so come ahead, 'the more, the merrier.' We expect him by next train.

THE unusual spectacle of brother arresting brother for stealing a horse from another brother was witnessed in Richmond Tuesday, when Tiff Stevens, of Garrard, arrested George Stevens for stealing a horse from David Stevens, also of the same county. He then handcuffed him and brought him to the Lancaster jail. They are sons of David Stevens, who was killed at Rowland by John Payne. George had not been out of the penitentiary long and is now said to be under indictment in Woodford for horse stealing there. David Stevens was here Tuesday to advertise for his horse, when he told us he was sure his brother had stolen him and gave us a description of him for publication, saying that the State offered a standing reward of $50 for such thieves and that he would pay liberally for the return of the horse. He did not seem to be humiliated at all by the act, but appeared to be bent on revenge and the punishment of his own flesh and blood.

J. E. Carson bought in Garrard an aged mule for $75.

FRESH supply of Ziegler's shoes, the best on the market, at W. H. Shanks'.

LECTURE.—Mr. Joseph C. McClary will deliver a lecture at Old Fellow's Hall, Monday evening, March 10th, on "Macabreism, its Origin and Advantages." Members of the Order are invited.

THE old Commercial Hotel building is to remain with us for many more seasons.

The Old Fellow's Building Association find it such a gold mine as it is that they have re-covered it with tin and are otherwise improving it.

JUST received several car loads of good boxing which I offer cheap for cash. A. C. Sine.

THE Water Works Company is preparing to build a reservoir that will hold six millions of gallons. It will be located between the works and cemetery hill, which will form one side of it. This with the two they already have will insure a supply of water equal to any emergency. The railroad company has signed a contract for 15 years to take water at meter rates hereafter instead of by the month and will pay six cents a thousand gallons, with a minimum rate of $25 a month. The company has been using about 60,000 gallons a day.

THE HILLS OF OLD LINCOLN.

On the hills of old Lincoln—I can see them today. As they stretch in due distance far, far away. And on fancy's swift pinions my spirit hath flown To rest 'mid the scenes which my childhood has known.

Where the old Hanging Fork, with its silvery glen,

Glides away 'twixt the meadows like thoughts in a dream,

And far to the South, with their outlines so blue, The rugged knobs blend into heaven's own hue!

O, the hills of old Lincoln!—how fondly I gaze

On their wildwoods and thickets and deep tangled ways

When memory's mirror presents them to view,

And I dream once again that I tread them anew,

While raptured I listen to the music of love

That the songbirds are singing in the tree-tops above.

And the soul drifts away in a swoon of delight,

Unanchored from care and from sorrow's cold bright!

O the hills of old Lincoln!—my footsteps have trod Up and down their green valleys with shotgun

And it seems to me now that the years that have led Around their old summits a halo has shone

That guides the fond fancy unerringly there

When backward it wanders with childhood to share.

Sweet scenes such as these, inured in the heart,

And which from the memory can never depart!

—Geo. W. Donehey in Lou. Post.

On the Road.

At Cincinnati Friday we visited the jail and had a short interview with the alleged actors in the Pearl Bryan tragedy, Jackson and Walling. The indications are that Jackson is running as it were under a mighty pressure, which can not last much longer. He will turn State's evidence before the April showers. Walling's faith in his ultimate acquittal is based solely upon the ability of able attorneys. Jackson hasn't the means nor friends that have it, and that is his only chance of escaping Plummer's necktie party.

En route from the Queen City we stopped at the beautiful capital of the bluegrass section and were astounded upon seeing one and two-year-old thoroughbreds selling at $100 per dozen, but such was true. They're off.

At Hustonville we find business brisk by all the merchants and the bank says the same. The popular roller mills are preparing to put in a car load of the latest up to date machinery, among which will be one of the latest automatic self contained, 50 horse power engines, that will run at a speed of 225 revolutions per minute, electric lights, corn rolls for making meal instead of burrs, a device fully as far superior for that purpose as rolls are for flour over the old process.

Monday was county court day at Liberty and was well attended. J. W. Allen, the king of hustlers, bought three car loads of hogs and cattle here.

The stockholders of the Hustonville & Green River Valley Telephone Co. held a meeting and elected the following officers, viz: President, F. P. Combest, of Phil; James C. Coulter, vice president, Middleburg; Directors: T. J. Baldock' R. L. Williams, James Carson, Wm. Wilkinson, G. A. Prewitt, F. P. Combest, Mitchell Taylor, James C. Coulter, G. D. McCarty, J. W. Allen and C. C. Van Arsdale; Geo. A. Prewitt, secretary and treasurer. The directors are to meet at the Commercial Bank, Liberty, Mar. 7th, at 12 m. The latest improved long distance instruments have been bought and the putting up of the line seems to be a sure thing." Dunnville proposes to extend the line on to Russell Springs and there connect with the Cumberland Valley line running from Burnside down the valley, with offices at all the important points to Nashville.

At Yosemite, Mac. Wheat has sold his stock of goods to J. C. Coulter, who sold them same day to Mitch Taylor for a small advance and they will be taken to Middiesburg to be sold by Mr. W. P. Keeny for Mr. Taylor. Mac. Wheat bought of James C. Coulter, the Cowan farm on Pine Lick near Mt. Salem for $3,000 cash. I predict a three-fold welcome to Mac. into Lincoln as a horny handed son of toil, a good business man, a true democrat and an honest, courteous gentleman. Shake. Mud.

No More Toy Houses in Washington.

The commissioners have made two important additions to the building regulations under advisement of the attorney for the District. The minimum width of a building was formerly 12 feet, but it is now made violation of the building regulations to put up a building less than 16 feet in width.

The other amendment relates to the subdivision of building lots.

It has been the custom in the past to allow two or more dwellings to be erected on one lot. Very complicated descriptions were often necessary to describe the site of each building, and in order to prevent the confusion which was likely to arise in such cases the regulations have been amended to read:

"No permit shall be issued for two or more buildings in the District until the land upon which they are erected be subdivided, so that each house will stand on a separate lot."—Washington Post.

The Solo Was Postponed.

George Ford, the well known basso, singer in the choir of St. Stephen's church. Mr. Ford, although one would never suspect it from his appearance, is a grandfather, and last Sunday his little grandson attended church for the first time. The little chap, who is only 4 years old, was naturally very much impressed with the strange surroundings, and it was with difficulty that he could be restrained from making known his impressions in a shrill, childlike treble. Mr. Ford was down for a solo, and after Organist Wood had played the prelude the singer arose in the choir loft.

The youngster caught sight of him for the first time, and, jumping up with a grin of recognition on his face, he shouted at the top of his lungs, "Hello, grandpop!" The congregation tittered.

Mr. Ford grew very red, and the solo was postponed.—Philadelphia Record.

Dark for 1896.

A Frenchman, who loves to look on the dark side of life, apparently has discovered in the yellow manuscripts of an old monastery some dire prophecies regarding the present year. The first is signed by Brother Philippe Olivierius of the Order of Cistercians (1544). The monk prophesies that Paris will be entirely destroyed this year and will never be rebuilt. He also announces a series of calamities and wars for 1896. Another Frenchman foretells a great war, lasting two years, to begin this Pavement Made of Hay.

Permission has been granted by the mayor of Baltimore to lay a sample of a new pavement made of swamp hay, in order to test its durability and to ascertain whether it should be allowed to compete with asphalt and other paving material.

The material of which the paving blocks are made is swamp grass, which grows luxuriantly in the salt marshes along the Atlantic coast. It grows very compactly and in many places to a height of 6 or 8 feet. It is cut at any time of the year except when growing.

Laborers go into the marshes with large flatboats and cut the hay, which falls into the boat as it is poled along slowly through the water. The material is then put into bundles and cut up into the proper length by a machine similar to the ordinary hay cutter, with which the boat is provided. It is afterward subjected to a moderate pressure and made into blocks by a machine attached to the cutter, about 6 inches thick by 16 long and 20 wide. These are then fastened in the shape stated by wires, very much in the manner as hay is put up. Before the blocks are shipped from the factory to their destination they are treated with a preparation of "dead oil," and they are then ready to lay up on the streets.

The cost of putting down this pavement complete, including the preparation of the concrete foundation, is given at from $1.40 to $1.70 per square yard. The cost will vary somewhat from surrounding conditions, the freight on the blocks, cost of labor and cost of crushed stone and other material for the foundation.

Cattle Better Treated Than Sailors.

The improvements made for the protection of animals during the voyage across the Atlantic are said by Mr. Tennant, principal of the animals division of the board of agriculture, to have fairly kept pace with the increase of the trade. During the early days the losses, owing to tempestuous weather, bad ventilation and other causes, were often of a very serious character, and in some cases resulted in the destruction of the entire living cargo. As experience was gained, however, an improvement took place, and since the year 1889, when the losses among cattle amounted to no less than 21 of every 1,000 that were embarked, there has been a steady decrease in the mortality among this class of animals until, in 1893, it was reduced to three per thousand, and during the year 1894 to five per thousand. Sheep are at all times bad travelers when compared with cattle, the losses among them during a long journey being almost always large, and during the five years in question the average losses amounted to 28 per thousand. Notwithstanding the fact, however, that the importation during 1894 increased nearly eightfold and leaped up to upward of 400,000, the losses during the past year only amounted to 17 per thousand.
